

Market Intelligence Report Bin Picking

The MIR “Bin Picking” provides for the first time ever a complete and detailed overview of this challenging application, including the main target industries, a range of different applications, vendors and technologies.

The report covers valuable analysis and facts about technologies, core components, products and system integration provided by more than 40 leading European and North American companies involved in bin picking.

Direct interviews with end- users as well as vendors, enhanced by additional research, provides an overview never been available before in this scope and in this depth. By interviewing both, suppliers and end users in many different industries, the compilation of an extensive survey was achieved.
